Empowering our future leaders

The Emerging Leaders in Schools program awakens the enthusiasm of tomorrow's leaders, from all walks of life, and equips them with the skills required to rise to every challenge.

Tomorrow's leaders are already among us - as children and students in our schools. Some of the leadership challenges they will inherit already exist. Others are evolving with ever changing world trends constantly presenting new issues to be addressed and resolved. So how do we identify and nurture tomorrow's decision makers to carry on and provide the solutions required?

Through utilising a comprehensive and rigorous approach to generative learning, high level development and inner leadership. In a unique, interactive, fun filled environment, the emphasis of this program is on promoting profound self-awareness, ongoing curiosity and an insatiable appetite for making a difference.

Our methods will prove to students that each and every one of us has what it takes to be a leader, to contribute and make a difference in a thousand small ways.

Emerging Leaders in Schools effectively develops and empowers tomorrow's movers and shakers. In partnership with those already leading, we aim to provide an essential network of positive, inspired and confident youngsters committed to taking Australia through the 21st century and beyond.

For students at your school this program isn't just an experience but a positive way of life.

What the AMPED program involves

The philosophy behind this initiative is straight forward - to accelerate the evolving leadership capabilities of students, through working with the young participants themselves and in conjunction with teachers and parents.

The catalyst is Emerging Leaders in Schools, a two day program for no more than 40 students at a time, either within the classroom or at an agreed suitable venue.

The program provides learning opportunities for tomorrow's leaders. It examines the values and thinking in the global leadership context, then identifies opportunities to shape the future. Students will be encouraged to seriously consider their career choices and educational options, as well as explore who they are as leaders.

Upon completion of the program, graduates will receive a certificate that can be included with tertiary placement and employment applications.

As part of the ongoing development, Emerging Leaders in Schools will also facilitate a process that helps you establish links with community, government and business leaders.

By initiating this additional support, you can provide mentor opportunities and valuable contacts to students as and when required.

Encouraging students to take charge

The world needs more and more leaders to make it an even better place.

Our framework utilises a values-based, vision-driven and inspiration model of leadership. Much the same methodology that inspired the world's most influential individuals, including Ghandi, Mandela and Mother Theresa.

In fact, we offer a guarantee that graduates will display the following attributes at the completion of the program:

- A desire to make a difference.
- A higher level of self belief.
- The ability to think through an idea to an actionable plan.
- Heightened self-awareness with a truer sense of themselves, their dreams, goals, aspirations and how to fulfil them.
- Advanced skills in entrepreneurial and visionary leadership.
- A greater understanding of responsibility, along with a sense of pride and purpose as the catalyst for positive and exciting change.
- A grasp of techniques and ideas they can use all their lives as well as share with family and friends.

Our intensive program, combined with our national and global network provides an abundance of resources for students, encouraging them to rise to every challenge within the school and throughout the broader community.
